II

On or about March 1, 2007, the Commissioner, by and through his staff, commenced a special examination of the books and records of Western. The special examination was commenced after the Department of Corporations ("Department") received information from Escrow Agent's Fidelity Corporation ("EAFC") that it had received a telephone call from the sole shareholder of Western regarding a trust account shortage. The special examination revealed that Luna had made at least one-hundred and seventy (170) unauthorized disbursements of trust funds from the Western trust account to Luna and/or Dominguez totaling $313,048.94 between March 21, 2005 and January 22, 2007 in violation of Financial Code section 17414(a)(1) and California Code of Regulations, title 10, sections 1738 and 1738.2. The special examination further revealed that Luna was altering Settlement Statements in violation of Financial Code section 17414(a)(1) to hide the unauthorized disbursements. The unauthorized disbursements resulted in a trust account shortage and numerous ongoing debit balances in violation of California Code of Regulations, title 10, section 1738.1. Western has been unable to cure the trust account shortage to date.

Several of the violations discovered during the special examination of Western and the methods used by Luna to cover up the unauthorized disbursements are described as follows:

A. Bank of America Charges on the Settlement Statement:

Commencing on or about April 12, 2005 and continuing through at least December 22, 2006, Luna made at least thirty-seven (37) unauthorized disbursements of trust funds to herself and/or Dominguez from thirty-seven escrows totaling $70,747.21 in violation of Financial Code section 17414(a)(1) and California Code of Regulations, title 10, sections 1738 and 1738.2. Luna hid the unauthorized disbursements to herself and/or Dominguez by describing them as Bank of America //// //// charges on the System Settlement Statements¹ in all the affected escrows in violation of Financial Code section 17414(a)(2). Luna and Dominguez both maintained personal bank accounts as Bank of America.

Luna further violated Financial Code section 17414(a)(2) with respect to the thirty-seven unauthorized disbursements by altering the File Settlement Statements². Specifically, the File Settlement Statements were altered to delete the Bank of America charges although the stated total expenses on both versions of the Settlement Statements are the same. A chart describing each of the thirty-seven unauthorized disbursements along with a description of the Settlement Statement alterations is attached and incorporated herein as Exhibit A.

The following is an example:

(i) On or about October 25, 2006, in escrow number 50434, Luna disbursed $3,700.00 to herself by way of trust check number 19834 (ledger states the check number as 19833) made payable to Luna's personal account at Bank of America. Luna described the disbursement as a Bank of America charge on the System Settlement Statement. The difference between the stated total expense and the actual total expense on the File Settlement Statement is $500.00 on the borrower's side and $3,200.00 on the seller's side.

B. Inflating Title Pay-off and/ or Charges:

Commencing on or about June 9, 2005 and continuing through at least January 10, 2007, Luna made at least eight (8) unauthorized disbursements of trust funds to herself and/or Dominguez from eight escrows totaling $10,555.00 in violation of Financial Code section 17414(a)(1) and California Code of Regulations, title 10, sections 1738 and 1738.2. Luna further violated Financial Code section 17414(a)(2) with respect to the eight unauthorized disbursements by altering the File Settlement Statements. Specifically, the File Settlement Statements were altered to delete the Bank of America charges, if included on the System
